

Pre – Season Concert in conjunction with String Theory Festival

Saturday 6th August 2022 –

Ross Milligan & Malcolm MacFarlane

Venue - Hawick Rugby Football Club at 12.30pm

Tickets £5 (+ Sandwich lunch by donation)

Ross & Malcolm have worked together for 15 years as Jazz guitarists to the Scottish Guitar Quartet and with the Royal Scottish National Orchestra. Together they made up the formidable guitar section for the world-premiere run of Mark Knopfler's new musical Local Hero. Two acclaimed Scotsmen to promote an award-starred programme of performers for the Club!

Programme of Concerts 2022 - 2023

Friday 9th September 2022 – Djordje Gajic & Ryan Corbett

Venue - Hawick Rugby Football Club at 7pm

(Optional evening meal at 5.30pm)

Djordje began his musical studies in Serbia aged six. He has won International Accordion Competitions in Italy, Serbia & France & CMA World Championships in France. Ryan is a classical accordionist in his final year at the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland, beginning playing aged eleven and taught by Djordje from fourteen. He, also, has an impressive list of awards to his name.

This international collaboration offers a real treat to our Hawick audience.

Sunday 16th October 2022 - Gaia

Venue - St Cuthbert's Church at 2.30pm

Katrina Lee & Alice Allen are an award-winning violin & cello duo, who won Chamber Music Scotland's two-year residency. Their exciting, bold, and daring performances push the boundaries of string duo performance and creative programming.

Between them they boast an impressive array of instrumental awards.

One of today's most exciting and dynamic duos of our times.

Thursday 10th November 2022 – Bone-Afide

Venue - St Mary's & Old Parish Church Halls, 7pm

(Optional evening meal at 5.30pm)

Performing works from all genres and periods with the aim of defying stereotypes surrounding the instrument, this group of friends, based in London, strives to showcase the versatility of the Trombone, as chamber musicians. Robert Mosley, Angus Butt, Isobel Butt and Merin Rhyd also play with international orchestras.

This will be a big and exciting sound to enjoy.

As an experiment, there are no concerts scheduled for the dark winter months of December, January & February this year.

Sunday 19th March 2023 - Eden Baroque

Venue – St Cuthbert's Church 2.30pm

Katharine May & Michael Sanderson established Eden Baroque after moving to Cumbria in 2017 with the aim of bringing well-known and less performed baroque chamber music to as wide an audience as possible.

Katherine, once described by a critic of the Times as 'the evening's feisty and urbane harpsichordist' and Michael, solo singer and folk-fiddle player offer a varied programme to whet our appetite.

Saturday 15th April 2023 – Clyde Duo

Venue – St Cuthbert's Church 7pm

Formed in 2010, the Clyde Duo consists of Flautist, Aisling Agnew and Harpist, Sharron Griffiths who met while working together at St Andrews University where they both are active teachers and performer's, they discovered they share a compelling interest in the flute and harp repertoire and since then have performed together across the UK and internationally.

Has Hawick Music Club ever hosted a Harp and Flute duo in the past?

Saturday 20th May 2023 – Resol String Quartet

Venue – Teviot Church 7pm

With a vision to make classical music more inclusive both in the present and in the future, this group of friends formed the Resol String Quartet in 2018 through their love of chamber music. Representing the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland, they won First Prize and Audience Prize in the CAVATINA competition at the Wigmore Hall.

They have toured across the UK and Europe and now perform their debut concert in Hawick!
